RICHMOND DEMOCRAT.

A GOOD CEMENT .-- A good coment for mending almost any thing, may be made by mixing together litharge and glycerine to the consistency of thick cream or fresh putty. This cement is useful for mending stone jars or any coarse earthenware, stopping leaks in seams of tip pans and wash boilers, cracks and holes in iron tea kettles, etc. Holes an inch in diameter in kettles can be filled and used the same in boiling water and food. It may also be used to tasten on lamp tops, to tighten loose nats, to secure loose bolts who a butare lost, to tighten loose joints of wood or iron, loose boxes in wagon hubs, and in a great many other ways. In all cases the articles mended should not be used until the cement is hardened, which will require from one day to a week, according to the quantity used. This cement will resist the action of water, hot or cold, acids and almost any degree of heat.

Poetical Enigma.*

God made Adam out of dust, But thought it best to make me first, So I was made before the man, To answer God's most boly plan. My lady he did make complete, But without legs, or hands, or fect, My ways and action did control, And I was made without a soul.

A flying being, I became,
'Twas Adam that gave me my name
I' on from his presance, I withdrew
No more of Adam ever knew.

I did my makers laws obey, From them I never went astray, Thousands of miles I ran, I fear, But seldom upon earth appear. But God in me did something see,

And put a living soul in me.

A soul of me my God did claim,
And took from me my soul again. But when from me my soul had fled, I was the same as when first made. And without hands or feet or soul, I travel now from pole to pole.

I labor bard both day and night, To fallen man I give great light; Thousands of people, young and old Will by my death great light behold

No fear of death can trouble me, For happiness I ne'er can see, To Heaven I shall never go; Nor to the grave nor Hell below. The Scripture I cannot believe, If right or wrong, I can't conceive; Although my name—therein is found, They are to me an empty sound.

And my friends these lines you'il read, And search the Scripture with all and if my name you you don't find I'il think it strange I do declare.
